My name is Alexandra, and over the last few years, I have been building projects and developing my front-end skills. I'm excited about the opportunity to apply my knowledge, problem-solving mindset and previous professional experience as a candidate for the Junior Front-end Developer position on your team.

Before transitioning into front-end development, I worked as an Account manager in digital advertising. This experience helped me develop strong communication and organizational skills, learn to coordinate projects and understand client needs. I believe this background gives me a valuable perspective on teamwork and the process of creating digital products.

I decided to pursue front-end development because I wanted to take a more hands-on role in building digital products. I enjoy turning ideas into functional, user-friendly interfaces and find it rewarding to see how code brings ideas to life. I am motivated to keep learning, improve my technical skills and growing as a part of a development team.

You can learn more about my background and explore the projects I have worked on in my portfolio.

Thank you for taking the time to read my application. Please feel free to reach out if you have any questions. I look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Alexandra
